FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 2015 | Wylie, Texas

BAYCO PRODUCTS, INC. DEBUTS NIGHTSTICK® FDL-300R TACTICAL FIRE FLASHLIGHT WITH A 190-METER THROW AND SMOKE PIERCING BEAM

High heat resistance, impact resistant, chemical resistant and waterproof 1” handle housing runs 3 hours on 2 CR-123 lithium batteries (included)

The new Nightstick® FDL-300R Tactical Fire Light packs the performance, punch and stamina that align perfectly with tactical firefighting and emergency work. Its tough glass-filled nylon polymer housing is rated IP-X7 waterproof and built to resist impact, chemicals and high temperatures. With quality and durability of the fire industry in mind, this tactical fire light has the rugged design and internal components of a professional's lighting tool that will keep those within the fire industry safe while still delivering a tightly focused beam of light.

The FDL-300R features a hard anodized aluminum tail cap with one large, textured tail switch for constant on or momentary use. Easy to activate even when wearing a pair of gloves, a pair of CR-123 lithium batteries powers its integrated 180 lumens CREE® LED for up to 3 hours. Using a deep parabolic reflector, the FDL-300R emits a tight smoke piercing beam over an effective distance of 190 meters (623+ feet), essential for use in the toughest of environments.

The red handle body is textured for a non-slip grip and has a 1.25 inch diameter head which accepts many third-party filters. Weighing only 4.4 ounces and with a body length of 5.5 inches, the Nightstick FDL-300R also includes an extra-long removable pocket-clip that provides stability in active and unpredictable environments.

“Nightstick fire flashlights and accessories are made to be dependable and with the performance fire industry professionals expect out of their lighting equipment” says Russell Hoppe, Marketing Manager for Nightstick. “The smoke piercing beam of the FDL-300R Tactical fire light is just another example of how we are introducing lighting products into the market that embrace our Nightstick slogan of “Life Depends on Light”.
