Bayco Products Expands All-LED Nightstick Line-up with Introduction of 3 Multi-Function Headlamps

3 new AAA headlamps add perfect balance to existing models by combining performance with affordable pricing

Bayco Products has announced the introduction of 3 new Nightstick all-LED multi-function headlamps with Nightstick models NSP-4603B, NSP-4605B, and NSP-4606B. Each engineered polymer headlamp features a multiple-position tilt head design and single top-mounted switch for ease of operation. All three headlamps are IP-X7 rated waterproof, are drop-rated at 2 meters and are now available starting under $20 USD globally starting this month through Bayco Products expansive network of distributors.

Utilizing CREE LED technology with 50,000+ hours of LED life, each 3 AAA headlamp model features an elastic headband with rubberized strips to keep the headlamp in place addressing a need not found in most commercial bands today. The Nightstick NSP-4603B is a dual-brightness headlamp that is ideal for professionals who want to be able to see at a fairly long distance for a fairly long time. In its higher-brightness 120-lumen mode, The NSP-4603B is rated to deliver 470+ feet of illumination for up to for 5.5 hours on a fresh trio of AAA cells (included), or in utility 70-lumens mode providing light up to 325+ feet away for up to 14 hours.

The new NSP-4605B model ups its head-mounted light with an offering a choice of a high-brightness 150-lumens spotlight (4 hours of runtime on a fresh trio of AAA cells, included) or a utility 80-lumens mode (7.5 hours). The tendency is to default to the utility mode and switch to higher brightness when there's a need to see farther (up to 85 feet).

With the new Nightstick NSP-4606B Dual-Light headlamp, this light boasts a 140-lumens spotlight, a 50-lumen floodlight and a 150-lumens Dual-Light mode all in one unit, powered for 3.5 - 8.5 hours by a trio of AAA cells (included). Similar to other Nightstick models, this headlamp leverages a ratchet tilting head so it can stay at the angle of user choice.

“By expanding the array of professional grade Nightstick headlamps for under $20, consumers benefit from our focus on delivering crisp all-LED lighting at an affordable price” says Russell Hoppe, Marketing Manager for Nightstick. “Our Nightstick brand promise is simple yet direct. We promise to build portable lighting that is Tough, Durable, at Affordable prices. These 3 new headlamps deliver on this promise spot-on.”
